RAILROAD'S INABILITY TO HANDLE TRAFFIC COSTING MORE DAILY THAN WAR DID

Stunning Statement Made By Senator Cummings, Discussing Transportation.

CONTERS WITH HARDING

Republican Presidential Nominee Also Gives Attention To Mr. Cummings
In High Cost of Living; Anti-Strike
Bill Legislation Is Defended.

By Associated Press.
MARIETTA, O., July 12.—The transportation and high cost of living problems were discussed at conferences today between Senator Cummings and Senator Harding, chairman of the Senate committee on Commerce, and J. L. Taber of Connellsville, O.

Senator Cummings later, in the company of correspondents, emphasized the gravity of the railway situation and the necessity for the wise handling of the transportation problems. He asserted that every day furthered "vindication of the new railroad law" not only as passed by the Senate with the so-called anti-strike provision but as finally approved by the President.

"The ability of the railroads to do the business of the country is costing the country every day more than the German war cost the people any one day," said the Senator, who added, however, the people of this country do not favor government ownership at this time, at least. He characterized the railroad act as the most progressive in recent years.

Mr. Taber said he discussed the agricultural situation and the high cost of living with Senator Harding when he was in Washington. He said the importance of a proper recognition of agriculture and who realize the necessity of "agriculture properly functioning if the nation is to enjoy enduring prosperity and tranquility."

"I feel confident that Senator Harding's utterances on rural questions will speak to the rural folk of the nation," he added. "Organized agriculture is never political, but the American farmer has felt he has not received a square deal in recent years.
The farmer will think for himself and give his support to the candidates whose utterance and record give promise for the best development of rural life."

KILLED BY MOTOR

Body of Uddell Man Found Lying Along Track. Cut to Pieces.

Special to The Courier.
MOUNT PLEASANT, July 12.—Cut into many pieces, the body of John J.
Shackel, Jr., employed by the Marion Lumber & Coal company at Uddell, was found Sunday afternoon lying beside a motor along the track between the company's mine and the coke plant which are several miles apart, the lead, being moved from the mine to the ovens by motors. The presumption is the man had fallen under the machine.

The motor had been removed from its place at the mine without authority and, for an unknown reason, it is said "Nobody is known to have seen the man leave. He had been employed at the plant for six months."

The body was removed to King's under-taking establishment at this place and the parents of the man, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Shackel of Carnegie, noticed. They were expected here today.

ROAD MATERIALS

To Be Given Preferential Shipment in Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG, July 12.—The Public Service Commission has issued a preferential order for car service to overcome the danger of interruption of the state highway building program.
This is the first time such action has been taken on behalf of the state and followed urgent representations made to the Interstate Commerce Commission by W. B. D. Almy, chairman of the Public Service Commission, at the request of the attorney general and highway commissioner.

The railroads are required to fernish 84 cars a day for hauling material for the state. It is stated that this order relates only to box cars it will have no effect upon the allocation of cars for coal distribution, where the principal shortage in car supply exists.

HEARING JULY 22

On Proposal to Re-divide Connellsville Township for Elections.

GOV. CLEMENTS REFUSES TO CALL LEGISLATURE

Hope of Terminal Rallying Suffrage Abandoned Following His Announcement.

By Associated Press.
RUTLAND, Vt., July 12.—Governor Clements today issued a proclamation refusing to call the legislature in special session to make possible ratification of the federal amendment for woman suffrage.

The governor's proclamation followed a conference which he held in Washington recently with Senator Harding at which it is understood the Republican nominee for President discussed with him the possibility of having ratification completed by the Republican legislature of Vermont.

In giving his reasons for refusing again to call a special session Governor Clements said the proposed amendment clearly invades the constitution of Vermont; that the present legislature was elected before the question of ratifying the federal amendment had arisen, and that the people of the state had had no opportunity to express themselves on the issue.

The governor proposed that the matter be taken up by the next legislature and argued that candidates for election be required to declare themselves on it.

CHILD CONSERVATION LEAGUE WORKERS HERE TO ORGANIZE CIRCLE

Study and Betterment of Child Life Through Mothers Is Object of Organization.

Miss Gertrude Mollenhoff and Miss Grace S. Dickinson, field secretaries of the Child Conservation League of America, are here forming the mothers of Connellsville into a local circle for the study and betterment of child life.

During the past seven years this league has been extended over many states and its work has ramified into many ways of usefulness throughout its projectors. The original purpose was to furnish the mother with help and training looking towards the moral development of the child, but as progress was made many things of practical benefit to community life were added by local circles.
Nurses have been employed by circles in some cities to visit the homes of the poor and give instruction to the mothers on sanitation, the care of their children, the making of their clothes, proper cooking, etc. In others there have been "baby weeks" with lectures to mothers by physicians and professors from colleges. The league now endeavors to furnish not only help in the moral training of children, but devote attention to vocational training, indoor and outdoor games, and pastimes, civics, social betterment, health and everything that looks toward a high citizenship.

Dr. Winfield Scott Hall of Northwestern University Medical school, Chicago, Ill., is the national president, and 24 of the leading men and women of America on the advisory board.

Hearing someone at the window of her room at Drewsville, Saturday night some time after there had been a noise at the door, Mary Greene, colored, 23 years old, fired two shots through the blind. Both struck Charles Timmons, also colored, one between the eyes, the other in the chest. He died instantly. When the police came the woman discovered that she had "killed her best friend."
The Greene woman is in jail in Un-

WATERS OF NIAGARA HOLD BODY OF BRITON WHO BRAVED CATARACT

Barrel in Which Charles G. Stephens Is Dashed to Death Flots to Shore Bitt by Bitt.

By Associated Press.
NIAGARA FALLS, July 12.—Rivermen were patrolling the Niagara gorge below the falls today in the hope of recovering the body of Charles G. Stephens of Detroit, Eng., who lost his life yesterday in an attempt to duplicate the feat of Mrs. Annie Edson Taylor and Bobby Leach by going over the cataract in a barrel.
Pieces of the barrel in which Stephens went to his death continued to float ashore in the eddy on the Canadian side, above the Maid of the Mist landing until nearly midnight but Stephens' body failed to appear.
Experienced rivermen said it might be several days before it was released from the cross currents at the foot of the falls.

The staves of the barrel bobbed up through the foam one by one and were picked up as they floated toward the shore. The head with its ceiling device was virtually intact. It was impossible to tell which part of the cask gave way first under the force of the 168-foot drop and the pounding of the water but Bobby Leach, whose experience gave him opinion some weight, declared it was too weak in all parts. Leach warned Stephens before the start that he was doomed to failure but the Englishman was confident his cash was strong enough and refused to listen.

JOY REIGNS AT PLAYGROUND WHEN EQUIPMENT COMES

Shipment of Athletic Goods Is Distributed During Morning.

KINDERGARTEN BEGINS

The public playground this morning presented a merry scene. A large box containing a shipment of athletic goods was received and unpacked in the childrens presence causing a lot of excitement during operation. Included in the shipment were baseball gloves, baseballs, bats, free shields, volley and basketball baskets and points to be erected and a first aid kit to take care of accidents.
The pieces of equipment were handled out to the children and the lot resounded with the voices of the children over their new treasures.

As each child received some of the equipment he was required to sign his name and was held responsible for the property in his possession. The goods are not to be taken off the lot and any child violating this rule will be deprived of his use. Plans for several teams were also made and they will begin practice tomorrow.

nellsville for a swimming lesson while Tuesday and Friday will be de-sewing. Friday morning will bring a hike for the girls unless the weather interferes. Eleven to 12 each morning will be story hour hereafter for the girls. The playgrounds will be open each evening excepting Wednesday from 6 to 9 o'clock.

Supervisor J. J. McHenry announced George Francis has been appointed as special officer to take charge of the grounds after the instructor leaves.
Nearby residents said today that the grounds are now quiet in the evening and the noises heretofore complained of are absent.

Ruth Robinson, opened at 9:15 o'clock and the following schedule was carried out: Salute to the flag, flag drill and marching, calisthenic exercises, story hour, at which "Mother Goose" and other popular stories were dramatized. The same schedule, with slight variations, will be carried out each day.

Dr. R. Buttner of the local medical staff of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad left last night for Lima, O., where he will be in charge of the company's medical office for the next two

REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN IN FAYETTE COUNTY FORMALLY LAUNCHED AT GREAT RALLY

Issues of Campaign
For Fayette Countians

Unusual Interest Manifest in Saturday's Convention of Committeemen.

Issues of the political campaign were tersely outlined in the following portion of the resolutions adopted at the Republican county convention in Uniontown Saturday:

We declare the Republican party has the genius, courage and constructive ability—
To re-establish a peace-time worth while government.

To end one-man government and make possible a return of rule by party.

To fulfill our world obligation without sacrificing our national independence.

To raise the national standard of education, health and general welfare.

To re-establish a peace-time worth while government and to substitute economy and efficiency for extravagance and chaos.

To reverse and maintain the national credit.

To reform unequal and burdensome taxes.

To free business from arbitrary and unreasonable official control.

To suppress disloyalty without the denial of justice.

To repeal the arrogant challenge of any class and to maintain a government of all the people as contrasted with a government for some of the people.

To allay unrest, suspicion and strife and to secure peace and order and unity of all citizens in the solution of the complex and difficult problems of the day.

FAYETTE MINE CAR
COMPANY'S PLANT IS SWEEPED BY FLAMES

Heavy Loss Caused to Industry in McConnick Avenue Ray
Makes Discovery.

Thinking that the blacksmith's forges were still in operation in the factory of the Fayette Mine car company at the corner of Gibson and Mc-Connick avenues Saturday night residents in the near vicinity calmly sat upon their front porches watching the light unimpaired of the fact that an immense fire was raging inside. A small boy who was passing at the time happened to look into one of the windows to see what made the light and discovered that the whole interior of the building was a seething mass of flames. He turned an alarm in. No one was in the building at the time.

The city fire department responded to the alarm but the fire had already gained so much headway that a large part of the structure had been comsumed by the flames before they reached the scene. Several lines of hoses were laid and it was only a short time until the flames had been controlled.

The machinery of the plant was not damaged, it being in another building.
It is likely that the company will reopen until the plant is rebuilt.

The mill was formerly the property of the Fayette Lumber company. The principal stock in the concern is owned by A. C. Slickel. The company manufactures pit wagons for coal mines.

The mill was fully insured. The loss is estimated at $5,000.

OSTERWISE STORE ROBBED

Sugar and Other Groceries Removed from Fairview Avenue Place.

The East End Grocery, O. C. Osterwise, proprietor, in East Fairview avenue, was broken into last night by robbers who walked away with a large quantity of sugar and groceries of all descriptions. The robbers left no clue to their identity.

The robbery was between 11 and 6 o'clock this morning. Police were informed that between 200 and 300 pounds were taken.

NO SUNDAY HAULING

Of Coal Permitted on the Streets of McConnick.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., July 12.—
Hauling coal by trucks Sunday over Morgantown streets has been banned by Mayor William H. Gilmore. He has invoked an ordinance against Sunday work and has stopped the hauling of coal by the trucks running over the streets.

"There is no more need," said the mayor, "why men should haul coal on Sunday than there is reason why they should plow, dig a ditch or grade a road."

Scout Officials' Meeting

Scout officials of the city will meet tonight at 8 o'clock to go over the camping situation and other scout business with the new executive, Archie Richardson.

Back to Work

A. A. Calhoun returned to his work in the Evening Star shop this morning after a vacation of two months during which he underwent a surgical operation.

Unusual Interest Manifest in Saturday's Convention of Committeemen.

EARL HUSTON CHAIRMAN

Successor of Mart A. Kiefer at Helm Gives Assurance of Sweeping Victory With Support of Members of Party; Praise for Retiring Chairman

Inbued with the feeling that this cause is that of the people in general and confident of success at its conclusion, the Republicans of Fayette county, represented by their committeemen assembled in Uniontown, Saturday afternoon, formally launched their campaign for the election of Harding and Coolidge and the remainder of the Republican ticket, from top to bottom.

County Controller Earl Huston was named county chairman by acclamation. With the united support of the Republicans the new county chairman, who succeeds Mart A. Kiefer, who is living artificially ill at his home in Uniontown, promised to "plant the star of success so high that it never will be lowered." In resolutions adopted by the convention and presented by Radcliff Weir, Chicago, a veteran of many a campaign, appreciation of the faithful services of Mr. Kiefer was expressed and the hope "for his speedy recovery from his present illness" voiced.

Saturday's gathering was a representative one. Selection has been made to large attendance of committeemen. In addition leading Republicans from all parts of the county were present, evidencing the interest aroused in the campaign.

The leading issue of the campaign were outlined by H. G. Sturgis of Uniontown in a series of resolutions in which the nominees of the Chicago convention and the platform were indorsed and a stirring tribute was paid to the faithful service of Samuel A.
Kendall as Congressman from this district.

"We believe that all fair-minded voters recognize the fact that Mr. Kendall has made a good record at Washington," the resolutions read. "He has conducted it as his chief business to serve with fidelity the people of his district and his promptness and courtesy and interest which he has ever manifested in answering appeals and requests for this and for that and for the other thing is a matter of general common and commendation all over the district. Mr. Kendall deserves a rousing majority in this county for he has looked after the interests of the people of this county and the county of the district with a conscientious and painstaking attention which marks the practical gratitude and acknowledgment of every good Republican."

A bit of political sarcasm was injected into the meeting by the short talk of John R. Byrne of Bryestown, in which he made reference to the "liquid fire" which, he said, was the principal ammunition of the "other side" in the last campaign.

"At the last Democratic county committee meeting," Mr. Byrne said, "a number of prominent Democrats told us about pure politics and clean campaigns and we assumed that the campaign would be a

REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED

try's servicemen, professed the address of J. C. Glassburn, a former sergeant and youngest member of the Fayette County bar, in which he professed Mr. Hinton for chairman. Mr. Hinton, the speaker characterized "as a fighter, a man who commands the respect and admiration of all, and above all a man who will stand up to the forces of the Republican party in Fayette county to insure victory in November."

Claim of the Wilson administration and the San Francisco platform "that the Democrats are the war" without taking into account the army of Americans who fought and bled for victory, is completely refuted by the country's servicemen. Mr. Glassburn said.

An appeal to the committeemen to "get your coats off" and get into the fight was made by County Chairman Hinton in accepting his election. Mr. Hinton directed the county committeemen not to get the impression that their duty had been done when they left the meeting. On the other hand, he said, it had only been commenced and stated that an representative of the party in their respective districts it was their duty to make sure that all voters understood the issues of the campaign, that they receive and execute any orders sent out from headquarters and that above all the vote should be gotten out on November 2.

There should be no doubt of victory in this campaign by any Republican upon any issue, Attorney A. E. Jones declared. The same sentiment was expressed by D. W. Henderson with the added advice to "go out and get the vote" and victory would be assured.

PHILIP WILKEY IS STRICKEN IN FIELD AND DIES QUICKLY

Dunbar Township Man Had Started Out on Farm Work; Boys See Him Fall and Raise Alarm.

Philip E. Wilkey, one of the oldest and most widely known citizens of Dunbar township, died very suddenly Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at his home on the Dunbar road, near Dunbar. After eating a hearty dinner Mr. Wilkey walked out into the field of his farm and dropped dead. Several small boys saw him fall, ran to his aid and notified members of the family. Life was extinct when they arrived. Paralysis was the cause of death. Mr. Wilkey was apparently in better health than usual yesterday and his sudden death came as a great shock to his family and many friends. Had he lived until August 20, Mr. Wilkey would have been 78 years old. The deceased was born in Connelville August 20, 1842, a son of James and Catherine Rodocker Wilkey, and was reared and spent virtually all his life on the farm where he died. He attended the common schools of Fayette county and left school when he was 21 years old to engage in the meat business in Connelville for a period of 20 years. Up until several years ago, when he retired, Mr. Wilkey had been actively and constantly engaged in farming in Dunbar township, in addition with his other business. November 17, 1874, he married Miss Margaret Swaney, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Swaney of Westmoreland county. To the union three children were born, all surviving as follows: Charles B. Wilkey, near Fayette City; Wilmer Wilkey, a coal operator of Uniontown; and Clarence Wilkey, at home. His widow also survives. In politics Mr. Wilkey was a Republican. For many years he was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church of Connelville, later transferring his letter to the Dunbar M. E. church. He was widely known in Connelville and vicinity.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the family residence, with Rev. G. L. C. Richardson officiating. The interment will be made in Hill Grove cemetery.

SCOTSDALE July 12—Scottsdale Firemen have set aside Saturday, August 7, as Scottdale day at Oakford park. A committee has been appointed to visit the local merchants and see if it will be agreeable to close since some of the merchants suggested that this be done if all could be induced to close. It has been announced that the picnic will be held on Saturday so that all persons even the working men, may attend. Those working until noon time can still have half a day at this park. A very good program has been announced. There will be free band concerts on the grounds all day. Dancing, with a good orchestra, will be free during the afternoon.
Contests of various kinds and races have been scheduled, all to be the best that can be arranged in their particular line.

All members of the fire department whom it is expected will attend have been appointed a safety committee to look after the welfare of the children while on the ground.

Special cars will be run to the park and the fares have been set at 55 cents for adults and 30 cents for children.

Since Oakford park has been leased by Robert F. Ryan, a Scottdale man, it is known that that can be given to the Scottdale people on their day to make the picnic a success will be left undone.

Meetings will be held from time to time and arrangements completed so that this will be the best picnic the town has ever had.

Summer Home Project Stopped.
The local United Brethren congregation, it is stated, has decided not to buy the William Washburn property at Mount Vernon Ore Mine for a summer home and the money raised for this purpose has been returned to the persons who donated it.

day of weeper services at the First Baptist church. These services will be continued this month and during the month of August.

Captain Kennedy Optimistic.
Little trouble is anticipated in signing enough men to make up the fifth Regiment Supply Company from Scottsdale since a number of men have signified a desire to join a unit of this kind should one be assigned to Scottdale and daily Captain John J. Kennedy who is recruiting the company receives inquiries from men who wish to join. The company has but two officers and it is with great pride that Scottsdale feels that Captain Kennedy will be the commander while the other officer will likely be some one assigned from the regiment who has been commissioned but not placed.
The Supply Company was formerly located at Mount Pleasant but was made up mostly of Scottsdale men.

where he will spend a week at the

SUPERVISOR HARDY ON WAPATH OVER DAMAGE TO BRIDGE

Unfavorable Report of Guard in Bridge Structure at Pechin Due to Night Travel. Special to The Courier.

DUNBAR, July 12.—There are some calls for "younecks" at Pechin that are on the down grade to their own gunsmiths. I. Township Supervisor Charles V. Hardy gets their names for some time past they have been using the word to call for repairs on the bridge. The bridge is in a condition dangerous to the traveling public who might want to use the bridge when it is dark. Of late the deprecations have been increasing more frequent, and Mr. Hardy is contemplating offering a reward to information as to the guilty ones. Ordinary vigilance on the part of persons residing in that vicinity would soon bring the guilty ones to justice and relieve the innocent from suspicion, and also the public from the expense for keeping the bridge in repair. Mr. Hardy is having the bridge watched and any persons found depositing it will pay the cost.

THE COURAGE OF MARGI O'DOONE.—A Vitaphone production telling a powerful northwest story in a big attraction today.

The subject is a screen adaptation of a story by Jan-a Oliver Gurdwood and has been directed in forcible style by David Smith. It makes on the whole a worthy companion to "The River's End," a story by the same author.

The snow settings give a fine atmosphere to the narrative and quickly carry the spectator out of his everyday surroundings. Dog teams and sledges are in evidence all through the piece. One of the effective points of the production is the manner in which it makes use of animals large and small as a consistent feature of the plot with the inevitable appeal to the spectator. The heroine full-grown pet bear is something of a novelty and there is altogether a genuine wilderness about the events occurring in the final reels. A weird and uncanny effect has been achieved without in any sense being depressing. Instead the action stirs the blood mightily at certain big melodramatic moments. The bear fight is a strong feature. Pauline Starke does something quite unusual in her portrayal of Margi, conveying a full sense of her mountain shyness underlying which is a native fierceness and a complete ability to look out for herself. David Raine as portrayed by Miles Welch, is a sympathetic and likable hero. The characters of Michael O'Doone and his wife are in excellent hands and there are two most hateable villains.

THE PARADISE. "THE SEA RIDER." In which Harry T. Morey appears as Stephen Hardy, captain of a fishing smack and one of the most, successful men in the business is being presented today. Louis's Valentine. Mr. Morey is a leading actor.

It is a terrible thing to lose faith in humanity and become a wanderer on the face of the deep. Captain Hardy's story might have been the tale of any fisherman whose brother had betrayed him and stolen the girl he loved. There is a strong atmosphere about "The Sea Rider" seldom found in motion pictures. It is a feature that will hold the interest from the first flash and appeals to those who enjoy adventure, love and big spectacular scenes. A burning ship carries a cargo of gunpowder and its explosion is one of the big thrills. It gives Harry T. Morey an opportunity to do some unusual dramatic acting and presents him in a role somewhat different from anything he has appeared in before.

SCOTT'S RUN DISTRICT

Making Rapid Progress in Development of Its Coal Resources.

This section of Monongalia county, West Virginia, known as Scott's run is undergoing very rapid coal mining development at the present time. At the outbreak of the war there were not more than a handful of mines and the production of coal was extremely limited. Now 27 different companies are operating there. The greatest impetus given the development of the mineral resources of the Scott's run district has been the extension of the Norfolk and Western railroad which serves the mine on Scott's run that road now covering 10 miles of territory and penetrating a part of what is known as the Empire tract of coal. The outlet for Scott's run coal is by way of the Monongahela railroad at Madsville Landing. Coal freight traffic at that junction has been greatly increased. In the opinion of Colonel J. M. Schoonmaker, president of the Monongahela railroad it will probably be necessary for his railroad to increase siding facilities as to give the Monongahela eight tracks at Madsville landing.

When a Woman is Nervous—Worried

Most women neglect their health, and for this they pay the penalty. Any woman will find that neglect does not pay. A little more attention to health would brighten up her life. If she asks her neighbors she finds that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription benefits a woman's whole system. It not only acts upon the troubles and weaknesses peculiar to women, but is an all-round tonic that braces the entire body, overcomes nervousness, sleeplessness, headaches, dizziness and a run-down condition.

WILKES-BARRE, PA.—"A few years ago I went down in health, my nerves were bad and I became very weak and thin and would have severe pains in my head. I also suffered with backaches. I could not sleep at night. I was so nervous, and was not able to do any work. I dieted and took medicines but could find nothing that would give me any relief until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and this completely restored my health. I regained my weight and my general health was much better than it had been previously. Knowing how beneficial the 'Prescription' was in my case I feel safe in recommending it."—Mrs. MARY SWARTWOOD, 122 Stanton St.

INDEPENDENTS HAMMER TURTLE CREEK FOR A TOTAL OF 20 RUNS

Errors on Part of Visitors Figure in the Result.

DAVIDSON IS DEFEATED

In a one-sided game at Fayette field Saturday afternoon the Connellsville Independents hammered the Turtle Creek moundmen for a total of 20 runs and 21 hits. The Cokers had their batting eyes trimmed for the contest and they just laid on the ball, giving it place in every direction. The final score was 20-5, the figure in a measure being due to nine errors of the visitors.

The Turtle Creek outfit had a reputation when it came here but it was left lying in pieces about Fayette field when it returned. The nightmarish began in the first inning. Herrod had things his own way and the side was quickly retired. The slender Coker twirler fanned the first man up.

M. Fisher led off for Connellsville. He drove out a clean hit between short and second. The first baseman muffed the pass to him and Fisher went to second. Francis went out on an infield fly. Fisher stole third and Duggan walked. On the first pitched ball Duggan started for second. Pohl, the visitor, received, pegged to the distant station to catch Duggan. On the throw Fisher started home. Endeavoring to get the man at home Duggan was neglected and gained the bag. E. Fisher hit to short left, and Duggan dropped the ball. Duggan went home and E. Fisher reached second on the throw.

Frazier hit and Fisher scored. Townsend connected also and Frazier scored. Townsend stole third and went home on Smithkey's hit. Jones bunted and was out at first. Smithkey going to third. Herrod looked savage when he gripped his bat and was awarded a free tour to first. H. Fisher, who headed the batting list, was up again. He tore into one of Chamberlain's offerings for two hits, scoring Herrod and Smithkey. Chip Francis was Chamberlain's next puzzle. Chip got one to his liking and drove it far enough to get him to second safely. Fisher scored on the hit. Duggan was up and he drove a liner between short and second. Francis avoiding the ball ran into the shortstop and interfered with the play. He was out and the side retired.

Herrod caved up a little in the next game and the visitors scored three runs. Connellsville hit a lot in its half out and in the fourth started another hitting fray that skyrocketed Chamberlain among the clouds. He was relieved by Stewart, who managed to do little better. Nine runs were scored in this inning before the twilight could retire the side.

Not a single Coker struck out during the game. Turtle Creek added one score in the fifth and another in the eighth. The score:

DAVIDSON LOSER.
Davidson lost to United on Saturday, 5-0. The game was hard fought, and King of Davidson pitched a superb game, fanning 16 United batters in eight innings. Davidson's hits were scattered and fast infield work by United resulted in a shut-out. The score by innings:

FLORENCE WINS GAME.
The Florence baseball team defeated the Capital City outfit at South Connellsville Saturday afternoon, 8-5. A home run by Ruppel in the seventh inning, saved the game. He drove in two runs about 4:10. At that time the score was tied. Exchange of Florence also got a home run on a fast ball.

HILL TOPS TAKE ANOTHER.
The West Side Hill Tops won another game over the Fairview Indians Saturday morning, by a score of 10-5. Rogers of the Fairview bunch got a home run.

TROTTER DEEP IN PALMER.
Trotter went to Palmer Friday and took that team into camp by a score of 4-2. Palmer scored one run on a scratch hit and the other one a home run when the ball was lost.

WEST PENN-TROTTER GAME.
West Penn Power and Trotter teams meet this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at Morrell.

BASEBALL CH. RPS.
Not a single Coker struck out Saturday. Chamberlain got a hit, the ball or was walked.

Herrod sort of rubbed it in Saturday. He would fill the batter with weak hitters and then fan the visitors sluggers.

Incidentally Babe Ruth made his 27th career clean hit (relay). Only two more to top last year's record.

Hobe Fisher batted out his 10th consecutive hit Saturday. He hit the record batting average of the region.

The board of directors want to get the grass cut in the middle. All we need is a good crowd, said one, and we'll see to it that it's cut.

More shame to Connellsville. No paying crowd attended Saturday contest. A third class act, and not sufficient support to support a first class independent team.

Wonder if Smithkey will see he stands filled. The Connellsville grounds are a wonderful attraction.

Fair Golf Champ.
Mrs. Luther Kennist of Colorado has won the golf title of southern California for the fifth time. She claims the woman's amateur championship from her recent victories in Los Angeles.

CAREFUL IS PET OF JOCKEYS

Speedy Little Filly, Owned by Walter Salin, Has Been Nicknamed "Miss Man of War"

Jockeys and stable lads at the Mary and Charles have nicknamed Careful the speedy little filly belonging to Walter Salin. She is a real Man of War, and her great speed and the easy way in which she has scored her six straight victories have caused trainers and other practical horsemen to stamp her as a Man of War. She is one of the fastest of her kind since the days of Lady Amelia.

The little daughter of Wreck and Mindful is a sturdy filly and it is expected she will go on and give the colts and fillies which have not faced her a fight to the finish. She is a real Man of War, and her great speed and the easy way in which she has scored her six straight victories have caused trainers and other practical horsemen to stamp her as a Man of War. She is one of the fastest of her kind since the days of Lady Amelia.

CINCINNATI'S PARK HOTTEST

Slim Salice of Reds Says Real Heat Can Be Found There in July and August

Most of the ball parks are hot during midseason, but some of them are hotter than others. Some of the Washington players claim that their ball of registers more on a thermos meter than any of them but Slim Salice of the Reds begs to differ. Slim says Cincinnati's park is the hottest of all. Get down there in the hole in July and August and you'll find out.

What real heat is. The only park that compares with it is the one at Kansas City. That diamond and roof is about even with the street. It can be blowing a hurricane and there won't be enough of a breeze in it to blow the hair off a man's head. The only time the air is warm is when there is a low with an m. h. or one pitch or shoots over a fast one.

Brennan ruled Wingo stole could that the ball was not foul. The pitcher had not delivered it. The ball was turned and he did not interfere that it merely was not an accident the ball hitting an obstruction.

UMPIRE DID SOME THINKING

Bill Brennan Causes Foul to Dismiss and Takes Notice at Session in Recent Game.

Umpire Bill Brennan did some thinking in a recent Atlantic city game that has the "bug" advertising yet.

With Wingo on first and Brad at bat, the strike and steal play was attempted, but Brad momentarily forgot to strike at a wide one. Herrod just as the Nashville catcher peeped to catch Wingo. The ball struck Brad's bat and rolled foul.

The MYSTERY of HARTLEY HOUSE

Clifford Sturgesman
Illustrated by Lewis Myers Copyright by George H. Deran Co.

Isabel was a clever, little player and I a poor one. She had me three times over every time. She had a car and I had a horse. I drove and she rode with her.

When Isabel said for the first time that she wanted to take me for a drive in the car, her mother made a gesture of dismay. Isabel stood before her and said:

"After all, we are engaged, mother."

She said:

"I thought of the hen at the pond's edge, eating her bread of dovelings in the water. Mrs. Sidney was not in a good mood, and she did not flatter, but her sternness was not a complete barrier to her."

Isabel took her mother's hand and held it, and then her lips. She smiled in such a honest, frank, perceptive fashion—I know that a smile can contain all the human understanding in the world. Because I saw Isabel's—and then, holding her mother's hand, she asked Mrs. Sidney to have the moment of distress with the intimate support of her own presence.

It may seem a small struggle that mother and daughter went through, but it did not seem small to me who understood it, and it had no rhetorical and little emotional expression.

Isabel knew her mother suffered, but she was wise. Mrs. Sidney dreaded her daughter's adopted mode of life, but knew her daughter.

"Good-bye, mother," said Isabel. "We shall be gone long. Come on, John."

That was the first time she had said "John" to me. I knew her. She said "John" to give her mother the comfortable sense that she was not going upon a wild adventure of an automobile ride with an untested man but was within the strict intimacy of the family.

We went driving, Isabel at the wheel. She had to drive fast and I do not. I am afraid. I am afraid that locomotion is a genuine human pleasure. Fastly it is, behind either a fast or a plodding horse. I prefer the plodding horse. Locomotion then merely reveals gradually changing facets of the scene; one likes to see the manifold aspects of a landscape unfold. But an automobile driven as I feared, wanted to drive it, it wanted to drive it. It blurred the vision and gave the idea that the satisfaction sought was a certain amount of wind blown in the face. For such as love it, not for me!

"That was a difficult scene, doctor," she said.

I know that was what she would call me "doctor." I came directly down out of the clouds.

"I know it was," I said, "and I admired the honest way in which you managed it."

"I think I shall continue to call you John just that way," she said. "It seems more honest and decent. After all, we are engaged."

Sometimes Mr. Sidney could be taken out in an automobile, of a warm, fair afternoon. It was not often that his strength permitted this, but whenever it did, I was glad not only to allow but to suggest that he make use of it.

The most beautiful of our river days brought us within the limitation of Mr. Sidney's strength, to the peninsula at Alwick. It was a hideous structure of barracks, work-rooms and walls, of cells and armed guards; but it was in lovely surroundings, and if we took the best roads, we came naturally to the prison walls.

Mr. Sidney would look at the enclosure and the guards in the turrets as it interested his own life in the terms of prison existence. We may have taken this drive by the prison road ten times when, approaching it on another of our outings, Mr. Sidney had the driver stop at the entrance.

"I feel very strong and well today, doctor," he said, "and if you do not object, I think I should like to go inside. I have seen the outside so many times. I have a curiosity to see the inside."

I consented, thinking that with Ted and me helping him—we acted as his legs, guiding and sustaining his feeble movements—he was strong enough to make the effort. I did not know who he was or had psychology to give him a sight of so many things, owned men, but my instinct suggested that it would, in his case, be good. He was a logical, reasoning man—a rare phenomenon in the human race. If he had seen emotional and sentimental, I should have had more doubt.

Mr. Sidney was important enough to be known in the neighborhood. The warden of the prison came to meet him in the office as soon as we had entered. He was very cordial to Mr. Sidney, who himself never showed more his aristocratic democracy. I am a democrat. I am most fond of an aristocratic democrat. Such was Mr. Sidney.

Our charming old gentleman could see through the entire institution, and he warden led him to the most accessible parts of the interesting place. We saw the rattap-chair works and the honor men in the gardens. We also took one glance at a tier of cell-blocks and peeped into the dining-hall and into the chapel.

The warden would have had us stay to dinner.

I had to forbid this. It would have been too much of a physical strain upon Mr. Sidney. I knew that the little diversion was interesting him, and I was glad to have him interested, but I did not want to tax his strength.

"This doctor's servant," he said, "has seen the inside of the library if you don't mind, warden, and then we'll obey the warden."

Warden Williams led us to the library, which contained a large collection of books. An elderly convict was engaged in cataloguing some new volumes which had just been taken out of boxes. He was interested and paid no attention to us.

Mr. Sidney looked at him for a few minutes.

"What did you say was his crime?" he asked of the warden.

"That's Dobson," said Mr. Williams. "You must know his story. He is the man who killed his brother. You are living in the Dobson house."

I looked at the frail, white-haired man with a sudden shock of interest. This was the man who had created the ghost story at Hartley house. He was fumbling registry cards and writing on them. He was frail and insignificant. He had been once by legend a sturdy, muscular, cruel brute. He was now feeble and interested in cataloguing.

Mr. Sidney looked about the room.

"This does not seem to be so well protected as the other parts of the prison," he said.

"It is not thought necessary," said the warden. "Escape from here might be impossible for an able man. It is not impossible from any part of the prison. It can only be made improbable. It would be easier from here, but still difficult. But this old man would be in a harder prison of deprivation and friendliness outside than he is in here."

"Do you mean that he is the man who made the ghost story I bought with my house?" Mr. Sidney asked.

"That's all there is human of your ghost story," said the warden.

"It is more than most ghost stories have," said Mr. Sidney.

CHAPTER V.

I could not believe the slightest particle in the ghost story. I am rationalistic. But as the legend of the pond took shape, my imagination began to give substance to his shadows.

Yet the place was genial and cordial. Mr. Sidney's familiarity was the dominant note in the house. An aging sick man might naturally have been testy. He might have been impatient, have had whines and crochets. He might have been treacherous in his demands upon and acceptance of service. But Mr. Sidney was always cordial and considerate. A great deal of the time he spent in bed. When he was not in bed, he sat in a great chair, and very often a yellow Persian cat rested on his knees. It was a difficult if not dangerous matter for any one else than Mr. Sidney to touch the cat, named Algol.

"The Winking Demon," said Mr. Sidney, "began the cat's ruff as it lay on his lap, and purred. I knew just enough of the star Algol and its variability to understand the whimsicality of an old man's naming a cat for the winking sun. Algol in Mr. Sidney's lap blinked at me, and the old man's genius for understanding and classification seemed uncanny."

Mr. Sidney's room was of great size. It had two fireplaces and a large cover of windows bulging toward the west. At the smaller of the two fireplaces he had his breakfast. Either at the large fireplace or in the outward bulge of windows, he had his dinner.

In spite of the Persian cat, Mr. Sidney had three canaries in the room. Algol respected them after a fashion that I thought uncertain. I have seen a canary sitting on the cat's head, but I thought it was a decided case of misplaced confidence. Algol wanted that canary and would continue to want it. He was deterred from natural action in the matter by his affection for the strange but kindly master who wanted cats and canaries to live together in amity.

I know I never fully grasped Mr. Sidney's scheme of life, but I thought that he found existence ironic. His graciousness and his cheerfulness, I thought, represented the gulf of his conquest of morbidity. His personal charm was extraordinary. Every one in the house felt it. But an astonishing thing about Mr. Sidney was an occasional emotion which, as it manifested itself in his expressions—and that was the only fashion I saw it for a long time—was one of savage hate.

It was only by coming on him when he was not expecting me that I saw this. I remember that the first time I saw the expression on his face I was dumfounded. That I was not expected in his room was entirely without intention on my part. People who were accustomed to being with him walked into the room without ceremony. His bedroom and bath were to one side. His living-room he insisted should be open without formality.

On the occasion I speak of I had come in quietly, but it was without intention to surprise my patient. He was sitting in his large chair with Algol on his knees. His eyes were closed, and on his face was an expression of malevolence that was almost demonic. It was so startling that the sight of it stopped me in my step and made me feel more than uneasy, almost afraid.

Mr. Sidney was quiet, except that with one hand he stroked Algol about the head and ears. The cat was almost imperceptible in motion, but Algol was purring so loudly that the sound filled the otherwise quiet room.

The malevolence—the malignancy, hatred, concentrated essence of ferocity—in Mr. Sidney's face would have stopped anyone. To one who had suffered for him as I had, it was abhorrent to see him so. It was a confession of something I did not want to know.

I was in fear that he might hear me and, opening his eyes, find that I had discovered him. I was embarrassed and uncertain what to do. It was a silly predicament, as I saw afterward. My part was quite simple. I should have paid no attention to any such phenomenon as the expression on a man's face and have acted perfectly naturally.

The common-sense thing—and I consider myself fairly sensible—was apparent afterward. It indicated the astonishing shock of the thing that I was unable to act sensibly. What was the expression in an amiable, charming man's face, to knock a sensible person out of all his senses? Here was a domineering man merely toying with a cat's ears, and the very sight of that was expressed in his face, waste me dumb. I cannot understand it now, the terrifying sensation being one which disappeared as the recollection of the emotions faded. What I did was to back toward the door, open it as quietly as I could, back out, and then re-enter the room noiselessly.

Mr. Sidney was looking at me smilingly. His charm of manner never seemed more positive and active.

"Hello, doctor," he said. "I needed company and just your company. If you would only drink wine!"

A broken pipe in the laundry made it necessary to call a plumber from Hartley, and to get quick service, it was agreed that we should send a car for the man and his helper.

The day was pleasant, and for the sake of the drive I went with the driver. The plumber was a fat man of the comic type. I thought he must be the embodiment of all the plumbers' jokes. They seemed to have created him; he was the product of the comics.

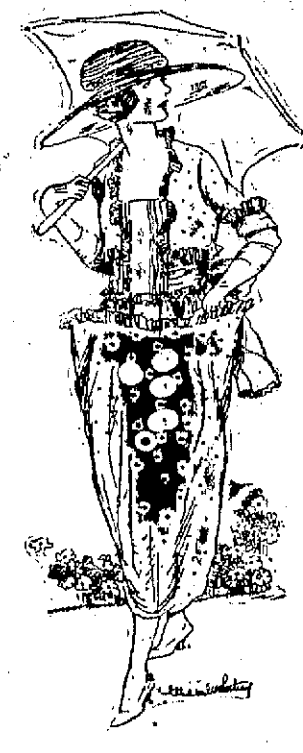

I even asked him if he were sure he had all his tools. I thought he would be sure to find a wrench or a screwdriver. He was unable, laughed at anything or nothing and was saved from being a nuisance only by an abundant and optimistic which was infectious.

Driving through the Hartley house grounds, we came to the pool, and the plumber—named Hawkins—thanked. Thus far, whenever he or something else amused him, he had laughed. He was chuckling as if in recollection of an experience richer or deeper than any he had been talking of.

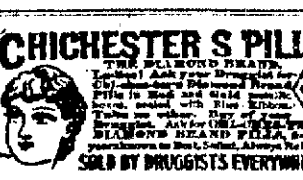

"That place is going to be remembered by me," he said. "I have been out here only once since the night I made a bet I was not afraid to sit on the bunk here for an hour. They've got a good many stories of the place in town. I had been drinking a little. I got out. You've got to do it. I kept the house going happy. Give the wife something to talk about. My wife would rather scold me than eat, and she loves her food."

We were at the White Pheon, having a good time but thinking of going home, when some one started on this Hartley house story. Every one had something to say, and I said that there was no ghost that could scare me, at least no ghost that ever was within a hundred miles of Hartley. That's where I made a fool of myself. I've got to admit that's where I made a fool of myself.
